Telegrams.

(By Havas Agency)

Brussels, Feb. 26th—In political circles it is stated that the Minister of the Interior and Public Instruction will shortly send in his resignation. The cause, it stated, is due to some misunderstanding in the Cabinet.

Paris, 26th—The Empress, widow of Frederick III, of Germany, leaves to-morrow for Berlin. Her residence here caused no comment, but, owing to some unfavorable remarks made by the French press, several artists who had accepted invitations for the Art Exhibition in Berlin have now refused to attend. Although the Empress is doing all in her power to stop this it is feared many more artists will not accept the invitation.

Rio, 25th (10 p.m.)—Contrary to what was announced Florencio Peixoto has been elected Vice President instead of Prudente de Moreas by 153 votes to 130.

Rio, 26th—The press in general appeared satisfied with the election of Marshal Fonseca as President. Regarding the election of Vice President several papers criticiseit,as he belongs to the army, and they fear that this body may hold by this, too much power in the management of the affairs of the State.

Rio de Janeiro, Feb. 26th (evening)—The instalment of the President of the Republic took place to-day.

The ceremony took place according to the established programme at one p.m. Marshal Fonseca took the usual oath in presence of the members of Congress.

There was a military review and artillery salutes. The city is "en fete."

THE CHILIAN REVOLUTION.

Puente del Inca, 25th—Some excitement has been caused here by the passage of Chilian soldiers across the Andes, and the Chilian residents of Mendoza have petitioned the Government to prevent any further movement of the kind. The fact of the matter is that Minister Godoy's escort was really composed of soldiers,25 in number, dressed as civilians, and it is also a fact that an agent of the secret police had six armed men here. But these men have been since withdrawn.

Puente del Inca, 25th—News has just been received of a sanguinary encounter between revolutionists and Government troops at Tarapaca, which port has fallen into the hands of the former. The news has been transmitted by passengers of the steamer Ibis which has just returned from Tarapaca. They say that the losses amounted to one thousand killed and as many more wounded.

It is said that the Revolutionists having taken Iquique, have named a provisional Government, and established the Chambers there.

ARGENTINE WINE-GROWING.

Dr. Cotton, who has recently arrived from Mendoza, informs us that the progress of wine-growing in that province is marvellous. Every man who can buy two or three "cuadras" of land at once puts it under vines, and some of the old proprietors have devoted all their capital and energy in the same direction. Among these latter is Don Tiburcio Benegas, of whom the Nacion informs us that his crop of grapes this year is expected to reach 1,500 tons and to produce 220,000 gallons of wine. The extent of his vineyard is not stated, but it will be seen that his grapes yield about 150 gallons of wine per ton.

Mendoza is undoubtedly one of the provinces in which superior wine can be produced. The official returns for 1884 showed thus:

	Acres.	Gallons wine.
Mendoza.....	9,000	1,400,000
San Juan	20,000	2,600,000
Rioja	14,000	1,400,000
Catamarca ...	2,000	200,000
Salta	2,000	200,000
Total.....	47,000	5,800,000

This shews that the average yield per acre is 150 gallons, which is higher than the average for the other provinces. Moreover, the Mendoza wine is of superior quality. Some twenty years ago there was a Senator of that province, named Blanco, who used to bring us a present of two bottles of wine from his vineyard every year, because he said the STANDARD was the paper in Buenos Ayres that took the greatest interest in the development of Argentina.

If Senator Blanco were still living he would see that the policy adopted by Dr. Plaza for the promotion of home industries, especially wine-growing, was on the contrary most injurious to the end in view. Enormous duties were imposed on French wines, before the country was in a position to produce one-fourth of the requisite quantity. The consequence is that the most disreputable "wines" have been manufactured in this country to the great injury of public health.

The trade-returns for 1891, compared with those for 1889, shew an increase of 250 per cent in the importation of raisins, and of 80 per cent in "aguardiente," which shews that a compound of raisins and aguardiente is now manufactured and passed off on the public as "Argentine wines." The figures are as follows:

	1888	1890
Raisins, tons.....	94	352
Aguardiente, gallons	52,000	97,000

It is needless to comment upon facts of this kind. The plain inference is that "manufactured wines" are keeping Mendoza wine out of the market, since it is much cheaper to blend raisins and aguardiente than to produce the real article.

We should like to see Mendoza and San Juan wines on every table in Buenos Ayres. But we have the strongest objection to "manufactured" wines, which increase the death-rate and are of no possible benefit to any but the "manufacturers."

THE LATE DUKE OF BEDFORD.

Few of the London papers make any comment on the suicide of the Duke of Bedford. It was rumoured that he had been murdered, but there is no doubt that he died by his own hand. The coroner's inquest was unwisely hushed up, being held in the Duke's house at Eaton Square, London, and additional mystery was imparted to the occurrence by the cremation of the body.

Evidence shewed that he had a morbid fear of assassination, keeping a loaded revolver constantly by him. He was, indeed, detested by the people of London, perhaps even more so than the Duke of Westminster. He owned 180 acres of London, including Covent Garden and Drury Lane theatres and the famous market of Covent Garden. The condition of this market was so disgraceful that His Grace was the subject of daily censure on the part of the people and Press of London.

According to the Mark Lane Gazzette he was a harsh landlord to his London tenants, constantly raising their rents, but kind and considerate to those of his landed properties. To the latter he was always ready to make concessions, in some years reducing the rents by 50 per cent, while men of the same order in Ireland offered their tenants a reduction of 10 per cent. His income was said to reach £400,000 a year, and although he certainly gave sums in charity, he failed to understand that great wealth, like his, imposed on him the obligation to be very open-handed. Had he given £40,000 a year in charity it would have been none too much.

The lives of men like the Duke of Bedford teach us an impressive lesson. Socialism makes rapid strides because it can point to men of this class who seem to think that they fulfil their duty to society by collecting their rents and driving in a handsome carriage through Hyde Park. This wealthy, but unfortunate, man could have imitated Mr. Peabody by expending £500,000 on dwellings for the working-classes. He could have established an orphanage, or sent a cheque for £100,000 to Guy's Hospital, to prevent the reduction of 100 beds which took place in 1887 for want of funds. But he did nothing of the kind.

The Bedford family has had terrible misfortunes in the present century. Duke Francis, if we rightly remember, was killed by a fall from his horse. Lord William Russell was murdered by his servant, and now the late Duke has died by his own hand.

CHILE.

ITS CITY LIFE AND COMMERCE.

(By Theodore Child.)

I.

Amongst the large land owners are the Errazuriz, the Urmeteas, the Browns, the Mates, the Cousiños and 20 others I could name. But the Chilians, until quite recently, paid no serious attention to the study of questions relating to the best way of employing capital. Perhaps, by temperament they are inclined to an easy, indolent life, such as we see them leading in Santiago, a life merely ruffled by the gains or losses involved in the gratification of their passion for gambling. Chilians have made enormous fortunes in mining,but these fortunes have been quickly spent and not a few have sunk in Paris and Monte Carlo, where the incautious prodigal has contributed to the creation of the imaginary character now known as the "rastaquonere." Now, nevertheless, I am told, all this has passed away and the Chilians intend to become a great industrial nation like the English, the Swiss, and the Germans of the Rhine provinces, as they say themselves; and in the realization of these aspirations, immigration and the completion of the net-work of railways have no insignificant role to play.

However, for the present, it must be admitted that this vast national development is more or less remote. In the meantime, it must be owned that the principal factors in Chilian progress are English enterprise and English capital.

But what have the Chilians been doing during the 350 years which have elapsed since Pedro de Valdivia founded their capital? How comes it that this enormous territory of 753,216 square kilometres, greater than any European country, Russia excepted, has only a population of 3 million and odd inhabitants? The natural increase alone during those 3 centuries and a half should bring up a larger total. The only explanation I can find is the terrible rate of infant mortality. It is to be presumed that the poorer classes have always lived in the unhealthy state in which we see them to-day, and that since the founding of Santiago the great majority of children have succumbed to their insalubrious surroundings, as they do to-day and will continue to do for many years to come, in spite of the diffusion of primary instruction. The Chilian "peon" clings to his mud hut and the "chola" faithful to Indian tradition, disdains chairs and prefers the hard ground for a seat. They dislike the clean neat "tienda," and buy what they need from travelling vendors

There, in the port of Valparaiso, you see the "Chola," with leaves stuck to her temples, inserted in the holes of her ears, and melon-seed in her nostrils, strange traditional remedies for real or imaginary evils. You see the Chola spreading her wares in the dust, and she manages to get many customers together, although only two steps away there are neat, well-kept shops.

It is difficult to foresee what effect education will have on Chilians of this class. I don't think even Mr. Balmaceda has given the subject a thought while erecting magnificent school buildings.

The peon, nevertheless, is an excellent miner, although he knows how to conceal and expropriate for his own purposes a pretty fair quantity of gold and silver ore. He is an indefatigable worker in the field or at any kind of manual labor. He is docile when treated with justice. He has his defects. But on the whole, he does not lack intelligence and he affords excellent material for socialists to work on. When this takes place,we may prepare for political and social changes. The Chilian peon,particularly the Roto, is endowed with great physical strength and astonishing power of resistance. He leaves the European, in this respect, far behind him. It is quite a curious sight to see him at work in the mines. You see him running about half naked along the low galleries with a quintal of ore on his shoulders. Arrived at the mouth of the mine, he throws down his load, pants for a moment and then runs back whistling some popular tune.

The Roto is certainly a man of extraordinary physical strength. He disdains all mechanical appliances, relying upon his head and shoulders, on which he carries enormous weights. In his domestic life he is like a big child. What he does, his companions are anxious to do, and they can be easily led by anyone who knows how to treat them properly. They can be made to do anything except work when they are conscientiously persuaded they have worked enough. No amount of dollars will make them work in that case They have worked enough and they will simply tell you: "Patron, we won't work any longer." An hour afterwards they are all 'tight' and dancing the most furious "cuecas." And thus they pass their lives, working as caprice may dictate, and spending their last cent without any concern for the future.

When a Roto becomes old, which is rather rare, the greater part being carried off in the prime of manhood by heart and lung diseases, or exhaustion brought on by their too frequent potations, or when he is no longer fit for work, he takes up his abode with a stronger and more prosperous friend, for they are all either godfathers or namesakes and live in the greatest friendship and harmony. In spite of that, however, they often fight and draw their knives.

At present they emigrate in large numbers to the Argentine Republic, where they are better paid than in their own country, and in this way Chile is losing her best laborers.

In conclusion, I will state that I look back with pleasure to my reception in Chile, for with the Chilians life is in the highest degree agreeable.

The country is most picturesque and richly endowed with mineral wealth. The climate is perfect, except in the south where the winters are very cold—less, however, than in the north of Scotland or the United States.

Of all countries, Chile is one of the best suited for the emigrant. It is difficult, on the other hand, to foresee how Chile is to obtain a greater development. Its mining resources—the principal wealth of the country—are precarious, their duration being a question of conjecture.

The Chilians shine by their powers of imitation and their adaptability. But they are not "gründlich", as the Germans say. They are hospitable and agreeable in their manners, and have a certain refined appearance. However, it is no business of mine to explore beneath the surface of this apparent refinement.

For the colonist, there are in Chile some serious drawbacks, which, however, I will not stop to enumerate, as I am considering Chile merely as a field of action for the merchant and the capitalist, more particularly the North American capitalist. The ground, it is true, is already pretty well occupied. British capital and German enterprise have already taken root in Chilian territory, and for that very reason there is an opening for any young man commanding a little capital and applying himself to the study of the language and customs of the people, and biding his time for a favorable opportunity to launch into some safe enterprise. There is no doubt that fortunes are to be made out of the mines, particularly in the gold, silver and manganese mines, and perhaps the gold fields of the south. The elements of success are capital, energy, patience and good luck. In public works much remains to be done, not only in railways, but in wharves, docks and ports. There is even room for fresh banking concerns, both in the city and provinces, for the profits of the existing banks are very considerable. The Bank of Valparaiso, for instance, declared in 1889 a dividend of 18 per cent, placing a million to the reserve. In the same year the Provincial Bank of Concepcion declared a dividend of 16 per cent.

LONDON LETTER.

ROYAL ENGLISH OPERA.

SULLIVAN'S "IVANHOE."

OPINIONS OF THE LONDON PRESS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

February 4th

I do not know what degree of telephonic interest your public may take in the first production of an English Grand Opera in Cambridge Circus, situated somewhere between the parishes of St. Giles and St. Martin in the Fields, London. Six thousand miles is a long squeak. The splendors of the new Opera House and the brilliance of Sir Arthur Sullivan's music must fade ere they reach you in photograph or newspaper paragraph. You will see enough about it and will known as much about it as I do, as the Fates neglected to send me a stall. Nothing extraordinary, since we are told that Mr. D'Oyley Carte received 15,000 applications for tickets for the three inaugural performances, the last of which takes place this evening. I send you one of the first written, one of the best written and one of the most flattering criticisms, taken from the Sunday Times. The music and libretto of the new opera company occupy about three columns in that paper. All the morning journals on Monday the 2nd inst. and the evening papers of the same day contain lengthy notices; and some have returned to the subject after a second representation with a different cast. Truth and the World of to-day have followed suit with elaborate criticisms. I may say at once that, judging by the almost unanimous voice of the press, Sir Arthur Sullivan in his first essay in grand opera has achieved a great success, and according to the Sunday Times and one or two other papers, a lasting success, a work that will rank with masterpieces of the kind. Without having heard the opera myself, it is scarcely fair to express an opinion at all; but reading the various reviews with the lens of the born critic, a lens polished and intensified in power by envy, hatred and uncharitableness, I come to the conclusion I had formed before a note of the score of "Ivanhoe" had been written—"Sullivan has not the stuff in him for grand opera." "Hatred"—no; I love Sullivan. I love his music; and all the more do I love him and his music because he is modest and sensible,and as I believe, conscious that he has not the power to do what as a matter of business he has been set to do as a task. The manner in which he has obviously attacked Scott's novel, shows that he was conscious of the limits of his powers. He would not be the man of genius that to a certain extent I am sure he is, had he not an intuitive knowledge of the length of his tether. Only pretentious idiots err in that direction. Sullivan has a charming endowment of "savoir faire." His caterers and employers who had been already enriched by his smooth Anglican harmonies, his quaint borrowings of melodies from the street, the liturgy and the stage, his unquestioned humour and excellent orchestration in "Pinafores" and "Mikados" applied to him naturally to inaugurate the new and profusely decorated home of English opera. Poor Sullivan's pardonable ambition may for an instant have whispered—"here's your chance; show them you can be something more than an "Offenbach Anglais." "Yes," he may have said, "Ivanhoe" is the thing, and Julian Sturgis the Anglo-American, grandson of an old partner of Baring Brothers, and the librettist of Thomas "Nadeshada," is the man to write it." And lo! an excellent libretto, with semi-impossible things in the way of dramatic construction and some dreary scenes in it, but filled withal with good verse and occasionally genuine poetry, was put together and grew as the walls of the temple in Cambridge Circus rose, and the music was finished contemporaneously with the last touches of the gilders' decorations and scene paintings. The composer had his Mephistopheles at his side, who in the true spirit of "business you know" may have pointed out the paying qualities of the spectacular element—the tournament, the burning castle, the contrast of costume in Saxon, Norman and Jew, the English wood and glade, Robin Hood, Friar Tuck....."Tuck!—that's it, English to the bone"; says Sullivan, "blow! your "leit motiv" and endless melody"—"with a Ho! Jolly Jenkins" "that's the song that will make the opera." And it did. It seems to me, so far, that it did; in spite of the great duet between the Templar and Rebecca and many other "quasi" inspirations of a much higher kind. It seems to me that it did from an almost painful perusal of the opinions of the London critics, many of them professional musicians, who were more on their own trial than was Sir Arthur. It cannot be said they came well out of the ordeal. When we look back upon days less musical and advanced in art-questions than the present, it is curious that with a much higher average merit we have no one on the musical press to compare with the Hogarths, the Chorleys and Davidsons of the past. There is not a single paper in London,weekly,daily,musical,literary or political, to which, as in older times, we could refer as an authority on musical matters. Haeffer, of the Times, was the last and the least of the old list. Mr. Bennett, of the Telegraph and Musical Times, now reigns supreme. There are men at Oxford and Cambridge, like Dr. Parry and Dr. Stainer, who can write grandly on special and technical questions, as there are others who write books and magazine articles of a certain merit on music; but I am speaking of the daily and weekly press, when I deplore the philistinism that prevails. With every respect for the excellent Mr. Bennett, his article in the Telegraph on the "Music of Ivanhoe," written before the opera was produced, and evidently by special permission, as etiquette forbade mention of the score and of rehearsals, I must say his "annotated programme" style, with musical excerpts all according to rule, absolutely set me against the opera, although it was obvious that, like many others who had delicate obligations to fulfil, Mr. Bennett's mission and intention were to praise kindly and without stint. Bennett has no dramatic sympathies, as his own libretti disclose. His sympathies are literary and lyrical. A somewhat feminine spirit of irony that possesses him is unaccompanied by the slightest endowment of the wit which would make carping pleasant and prevent his qualified praise from being misinterpreted. Then there is Mr. Fuller-Maitland of the Times. He is young and may improve. At present he writes tamely and schoolboyishly; but if he be the author of the criticism in the Times on "Ivanhoe," in justice it may be said of Mr. Maitland that he has a desire to be impartial. We got from his article a very fair idea of what seem to be the real merits and demerits of the opera. His article formed a contrast to the chorus of excited laudation we found in the Sunday papers the morning after the production of Ivanhoe. The critics wrote rapidly, when still under the influence of a brilliant first performance, and perhaps other stimulants. Amongst their articles the critique I send you from the Sunday Times is a fair example. I am almost of opinion that the reporters and critics of the morning papers appearing on the Monday following and having a whole Sabbath to cogitate in were disconcerted by that unusual advantage. There would have been more "go" in their work if they had been given less time to think. Taking the Sunday Times as the extreme of enthusiastic laudation, and the Times as a moderator under the influence of a dull English Sunday, the other extreme is represented by our cynical friend Mr. George Bernard Shaw, of the World, who has enough humour and literary power to conceal any shortcomings in technical knowledge—shortcomings he is rapidly lessening by study. He observes: "I do not say that the score is in any essential point an advance upon that of Macfarren's Robin Hood which had a long run at Her Majesty's Theatre thirty years ago..... Ivanhoe has plenty of charming songs in it; and the crash-bang and the top notes in the exciting situations are as stirring as heart could wish..... There is Bohemian effervescence, no puerile attempts at brilliancy or grandiosity; all is smooth, orderly and within the bounds of good breeding. Mr. Shaw speaks of reminiscences and names the scene before sunrise as taken from Berlioz's Faust; the song of Rebecca "Ah! would that thou and I might lead our sheep" as resembling the pastoral in Orphée aux Enfers; Ulrica's song as reminding him of Re dell' abisso in Verdi's Un Ballo, and the rousing prelude to Friar Tuck's air as resembling Vivat Bacchus, in Mozart's Il Seraglio, etc. Perhaps Mr. Shaw, guessing that the vulgar world would applaud indiscriminately, was determined to make a noise by creating a dissonance.

But I am bound to say that from what I read in the evening papers to-night and from other "second notices" written after the glamour of a first performance under exceptionally brilliant circumstances had subsided, the critics are sobering down to a different estimate of Sir Arthur Sullivan's first grand opera. Containing as it does, and being Sullivan's it must do, much clever and charming music, the success of the opera, so far, is due to the ever popular subject of the drama, to the magnificent staging of the work, a new and beautiful theatre, and a tolerably efficient, cast, which, as you will see, is a double cast in view evidently of future provincial and American engagements.

On the 2nd inst. Miss Thuddicum replaced Miss McIntyre as Rebecca, and Mr O'Mara took the part of "Ivanhoe" in place of Mr Ben Davies. Miss Thuddicum has a better voice than our English prima donna Miss McIntyre,but does not at present approach her in histrionic power. Mr Shaw thinks that Mr O'Mara looks and plays the title role much better than Mr Davies, who sings admirably but is not great as an actor and is growing prematurely corpulent. The night is fine. The lights of London are being lit. I may be moved to leave all common topics for the next mail and boldly squeeze in with the herd at the pit entrance of the Royal English Opera, Shaftesbury Avenue. If in an ideal forecast I have done Sir Arthur Sullivan an injustice, it shall be undone with interest.

CRUISE OF LA ARGENTINA.

CHAPTER V.

We sailed on the 28th of November and touched at Valentyn Bay and Aguirre Bay. We also went into Sloget Bay, where there are a number of houses. They ran up the national flag and saluted. They are a mining colony washing for gold and it is reported to be plentiful there. I have seen some small nuggets weighing fifty grammes which had been picked up on the beach. It seems there is gold in the barrancas,and as they are washed away by the sea the gold falls and the searchers have only to wait for a clean beach and a very low tide to pick up a fair amount of gold. We did not anchor here but continued our way to Picton Island at the entrance to the Beagle channel, where we anchored for a short time.

The scenery was now very grand, the wooded islands closing in on each side of us and a circle of snow clad hills all round. We weighed anchor and proceeded to Haberton the same evening, and after anchoring, several of us disembarked on an island and found only sheep, so we went to another and found only an echo for a time, but were pleasantly surprised after a bit to hear voices on the other side, and we immediately went over and found the Rev. Thomas Bridges and a host of Indians and some Spanish or Chilian miners. They were afraid we were going to steal the sheep, and the Indians were all armed with guns, clubs, etc., but a soft answer turneth away their wrath and Mr. Bridges gave us a warm welcome. I was curious to see a man who had spent so much of his life (twenty-eight years) among the wretched Indians and who I had often heard about. At first sight, I would have taken him to be a wiry,active farmer, which he now really is. He got a grant of land some years ago. He has twenty-four miles of coast in the Beagle channel and three miles broad, including islands. He then left the mission at Ushuwaia and settled here, where he has dedicated himself to sheep farming, etc. He has also a large patch of land under cultivation. He is assisted by three stalwart sons and a crowd of Indians. They have cleared one hundred tons of stones from the garden and cut wood for fences and corrales. Under intelligent and patient guidance the Indians seem to be capable of doing a fair amount of work. Of course, Mr. Bridges, being able to speak their language,is quite at home with them. On reaching his house, we found it to be picturesquely situated on a slope near the shore of a small cove and substantially built. Inside, there is a pleasing air of refinement and comfort. We were introduced to his good lady and two charming young ladies, and spent a very happy hour with them and returned to the ship accompanied by Mr. Bridges. It was now morning, but still quite light and we got under weigh and anchored at four a.m. in Harberton in front of Mr. Bridges's house in a most commodious harbor and favored spot. Small peninsulas run out into the canal,forming harbors and channels. They are joined to the mainland by narrow isthmuses with the sea winding round on every side. The land is covered with good pasture and trees and the soil is good. Our captain, second commander, and I disembarked at 5 a.m. on the side of the harbour, opposite the houses, and were delighted with the place. The morning was beautiful and we spent a few hours enjoying it. We gathered large bouquets of wild flowers and were surprised to find such a variety and such bright colours so far south. From the heights we got a good view of the islands and the windings of the sea, and in the valleys the air was ringing with the music of the birds in the groves.

Afterwards all the officers and midshipmen not on duty landed and spent a few pleasant hours with the Bridges family and roamed over the heights and hollows. We visited their garden where they cultivate strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, ruhubarb, lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower, potatoes, carrots,turnips, etc., but it requires 10° Fahr. more heat to ripen apples, consequently they have no fruit trees. We went to see the wigwams of the Indians and found them miserable enough; some of them are substantially built, but the majority are simply trees formed in the shape of a cone with an opening at one side, and there they live without furniture of any kind; they sleep on the ground, they always have a fire inside and carefully cover up all the openings (except the door) to prevent the smoke escaping. Those civilized savages are fairly well clothed, and some of the children would pass unnoticed in a crowd of city boys. The Indians are lazily inclined at best and are paid by results on a system of piece work. They make very good canoes out of trees and also of bark sewn together with the sinews of animals. The appropriate season for procuring bark is in summer, it is also Mr Bridges' busiest time when sheep shearing and other work must be done; the Indians are then most wanted; nevertheless, they abandon the settlement and go for a holiday like other Christians; they wander in the woods and live on shell fish, and while enjoying this "dulce far niente" according to the traditions of their fathers, Mr Bridges is left to get through his work as he may. Mr Bridges being anxious to show us his dairy farm, we got one of our boats and pulled round to it, taking him and his daughters. We were all very pleased with the farm; it is so nicely fenced and kept in order; and the dairy, under the care of Mrs. Bridges' sister, is a model of neatness. They have a patent hot-water heating apparatus, for bringing the cream to the surface and facilitating the operation of butter making. They make large quantities of it for export to the Falklands; they also make cheese. Part of the house is made of native wood, sawn and planed, and when properly seasoned seems to be very useful; it certainly is very plentiful. I have seen trees quite three feet in diameter, and there must be tens of millions of them along the coast and on the islands. Here we met the two oldest sons and another daughter, all splendid types of Fuegians, with their mental as well as physical faculties well developed and trained. No one would imagine that they have been born and educated in the Tierra del Fuego.

After a merry tea party we went over the place to see the scenery, the horses and the cattle; they are all remarkably tame. Alice's pet calf, "Stately Gambols," was trotted out and got special mention. We were also shown a splendid, serviceable boat, made of native wood by Mr. Bridges' eldest son, quite a triumph of skill; and though Fuegians have long been famous for paddling their own canoes, still this latest sample of Fuegian handicraft excited our admiration and praise, which this stalwart Fuegian so richly deserved.

On our return we visited the ship, and our captain invited the family to dinner, Mrs. Bridges being brought off too; it was a pleasant change for them, for they don't have visitors every year. It is two years since they were visited by H.M.S. 'Ruby,' and a plan made of their harbour, which is now included in all charts of the Beagle Channel. True, they see the 'Villarino' or 'Tyr' every 4 months or so; but they only remain a few minutes,if they come in at all, so that all their communications with the outside world are through Sandy Point or Falklands by means of the Governor's steamer 'Comodoro Py' or the schooner 'Allan Gardiner'; consequently, they hear and know very little about the domestic affairs of this great Republic, except perhaps the price of gold.

MONTEVIDEO.

QUESTION OF LIGHT-DUES.

The Oriental lighthouses are eleven in number, five of them belong to the State, namely the Punta del Este, English Bank, Flores Island, Cerro and Colonia; the remaining number, six, are property of private individuals or companies, and include the Polonio, Cape Santa Maria, Jose Ignacio, Punta Brava, Farallon and Panela. In importance the five State lighthouses outweigh the six private ones yet the, former only collect a due of 3 cents per ton, and the latter 12½ cents.

Calculating expenses here at three times the amount in France, "Mario" estimates that these eleven lighthouses cost for their support 26,400 dollars per year, whilst the dues collected on their account amount to 396,960 dollars! leaving a profit of 370,560 dollars! Of this large sum the share of the State, which possesses the most important lighthouses, is only 65,340 dollars, or about one-sixth, the rest goes into private pockets.

The lighthouse dues per ton are in Buenos Ayres 3 cents gold, in Brazil 4 cents, in Callao 1½, in Valparaiso 4 cents, here they are 15½!

Calculating on the basis of the cargo actually landed in this port, steamers from beyond seas pay $1.66 per ton, sailing vessels $0.184 per ton, or an average of $0.559 per ton. The average for coasting steamers and vessels is $0.205 per ton.

This tremendous tax, says "Mario" has called the attention of the foreign diplomatic corps, though as yet no effort, combined or otherwise, seems to have been made to bring the matter officially before Government. However, reports on the subject have been forwarded by Ministers to their respective Governments abroad, as instance of which "Mario" quotes the following paragraph from the last report of the British Minister:—

"The disproportion between the dues collected by the owners of private lights and those payable in respect of lights which belong to the State is very striking. No returns are obtainable of the total sum annually collected, but an estimate compiled by a gentleman well a quainted with the subject shows that in 1887 it must have amounted to over 216,000 dollars and more than 282,000 dollars in 1888. The tonnage of the port has doubled in the last 10 years, but there has been no reduction in the dues since 1879."

Notwithstanding these exorbitant dues the maritime movement of this port trebled itself in the eleven years from 1879 to 1889. The tonnage entered from beyond seas in the latter year was 2,198,018 tons. Had it not been for these dues, "Mario" thinks it would have exceeded three millions, as there is no doubt that, despite the increased movement, numbers of vessels have been literally driven away from this port, where they used to once touch if only for coal or provisions. As examples "Mario" cities the steamers of the Kosmos Line of Hamburg, the Kirsten Line of Hamburg, the Gulf Line, the New Zealand Steam Shipping Co., and Shaw Savill and Albion Line, representing some 150 vessels per year.

The Reorganising Commission of Customs, appointed in January, 1887, paid special attention to this question of lighthouse dues, and pointed out to Government, in very clear terms, the abuses committed and the mischief wrought. To the indications of this Committee Government has never yet paid the least attention. The only Government which has shewn any active interest in the question, or taken any steps to redeem the port from those killing exactions, was that of Latorre.

This abuse is carried so far that in certain cases some of the private lighthouses collect higher dues even than those authorised by law. To wit, the Polonio lighthouse, authorised to charge a due of two cents per ton, since 1882 has been charging two cents and a half, in virtue of an order emitted,without proper authority, by the then Minister of Government, Dr. Castro. In 1889 this extra half cent represented a sum of 10,800 dollars! probably more than paying for the maintenance of the lighthouse.

"Mario concludes his articles with the following pregnant sentence—"Among the Lacedæmonians, robbery was lawful, providing it was perpetrated with dexterity and skill. The most exacting of the Lacedæmonians would have nothing to remark with regard to this impost of half a cent."—Montevideo Times.

STREET PAVING.

Mr. Editor,

As an old subscriber to your valuable paper, I was delighted to see in your issue of this morning some few lines devoted to the question of 'street paving;' and whilst I am not able to express any opinion in regard to the "Patent Victoria Stone" so cleverly advocated by your correspondent C. S. and Co., I sincerely trust in the interest of this country and its industries, that the Municipality will always be sufficiently conservative and patriotic to continue in the way they have commenced and have every street side shortly paved with those "old granite blocks," "produccion del pais," so sarcastically referred to by your correspondent C. S. and Co.

STEAM SAW-MILL IN BARRACAS.

(Communicated)

Anybody who wants to see the progress of Barracas would do well to visit the establishment of Messrs. Gneanau and Boix. It stands close to the Riachuelo at the Tres Esquinas, and for its size is decidedly one of the best constructed "galpones" in the entire neighborhood. Eighty men can work easily at the bench in the loft, while the machinery below on the ground floor cuts and prepares as much timber as three hundred and fifty ordinary hands could be fairly expected to do. The machinery is of the best English make and in excellent order, being almost brand new. A twenty-five horse power engine drives the machinery and pump, thus ensuring a constant and never-failing supply of pure, clear water. The proprietors offer at a push to turn out half a million dollars' worth of work per annum.—Pitch-pine.

Railway Items.

Sr. Sampite, the representative of the Fives-Lille company, the concessionaire of the guaranteed San Cristobal and Tucuman line, has asked the Executive for permission to make an alteration in the course of the line between kil. 397 (Sancho Corral) and kil. 517 (La Aurora). According to the plans already approved, the line was to have crossed the Rio Salado a little to the right of La Brea, and then to have struck a bee line for Tucuman. But, as the course of the river is here very uncertain at this point, its passage offers great technical difficulties. Besides, the old plan makes the line pass for forty kilometres by the side of a "salina" and through poor land totally unprovided with water, and with no possible future. In order to avoid these difficulties, Sr. Sampite proposes to cross the Salado at Sancho Corral (kil. 395) and then to follow a straight line to La Aurora (kil. 51), the line between Sancho Corral and La Brea already approved remaining as a branch. This variation (inclusive of the branch) will increase the length of the line by 32 kilometres, but as the concessionaires have already obtained permission to vary the original plans by saving 32 kilometres, a fair balance will be struck. As a radical change in the original plans is thus contemplated, that is to say, the introduction of a branch not mentioned in the Law of Concession, the National Railway Board is of opinion that the matter should be settled by the Government as an amplification of the concession or that it should be submitted to Congress for approval as an addition to the original concession.

The Railway Inspection Office has informed the Executive that the section of the Villa Maria and Rufino line between La Carlota and Rufino is now completed and fit to be opened to the public on the 1st March. As this is a guaranteed line, the Inspection Office advises that the length of 227.665 kils. should form the basis of the guarantee until a final official survey be made.

The tariff of the B. Blanca North Western has been forwarded by the N. R. Board to Government for final sanction.

Messrs. Thomas O. Osborn and Co., who hold a concession from the Paraguayan Government for a railway to Bolivia, are at present endeavoring to secure the privilege from the Government of the last-named enlightened Republic to extend the line to the city of Sucre. At least so say the Bolivian papers. As there is a revolution in Bolivia at present, railway contractors will find some difficulty in building their lines.

Instructions have been given to place to the account of the National Treasury the two hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars at present in the National

THE DIPPING SEASON.
Under the above heading, the following appears in a recent exchange:—
"Speaking of Dips themselves, perhaps the most significant feature in their History is the way that the Old-fashioned have been superseded by the more "Modern and Scientific preparations. As Tobacco gave place to the various "Fluids" "and these again to the "Powders" so we find to-day these latter retiring before the new Paste Dips. Of the many recent experiments we have witnessed in England and "the Colonies, the most successful were with an Arsenical Paste, manufactured by "Tomlinson and Hayward, of Lincoln, a firm that has always been noted for keeping "breast of the times."
"The advantages of the Paste over the "Powders" are many:—
"1. It does not make the wool dry and harsh, but leaves it soft and silky, giving a "healthy sweet smell to the sheep. Being, so to speak, already mixed, it is easier to "prepare there, being no waste nor loose "Powders," to fly about.
"As it is prepared with Carbolic it is lighter than the "Powders" and does not "so readily settle to the bottom, and for the same reason it is not injurious to the "hands. It goes in less space and is a more concentrated form than the "Powders," "thus effecting an economy in transport and labour. It costs less, and will mix with "any kind of water. In a word, it is the "Powders," cleared of their many inherent "defects, with their curative properties and good qualities preserved and increased. "Until the manufacturers make some better discovery

Thursday, February 26th.
Matters could not well rule quieter or duller than they did to-day, everything is done and a fruitful source of comment thus removed, politics is almost the only resource left, and it is talked all round, varied occasionally with a running comment on the Chilian question. Nothing could be more difficult than to hazard any attempt at gauging the future course of events, and however matters may run it seems that the great reaction so confidently expected must be considered out of the question until time has altered materially existing circumstances. That there may be improvement is not only possible, but probable, but it seems that this reaction will be slow and steady, though all the more solid and beneficial on this account. Gold opened to-day at 349, dropped slowly to 347.50, stiffened again to 348 and closed with sellers at this rate. In stocks, Cedulas held very firm, and at the second hour large lots were taken up presumably for foreign account. National Bank shares were quiet at 84, but both Catalinas and Constructors were palpably weaker, the latter closing at 10.60 and the former at 16.50.

The Riachuelo Works Board have asked Government to approve the two alterations made in the plans of proposed wharves round Barraca Peña and Berisso. These modifications would render necessary the expropriation of an increased area of 4580 sq. metres. This would increase the cost, but the Board state that the advantages would be very great.

The following telegram was received today by the Minister of Finance:—

London, Feb. 29th.

"H. E. the Minister of Finance.

"Dr. V. F. Lopez.

"I thank Y. E. very sincerely for your corteous message and shall have much pleasure in laying it before the Commitee on Argentine affairs.

Lord Rothschild."

Yesterday in the Caja de Conversion Nat onal Bonds to a value of 879,300 gold dollars were burned in presence of the members of the board, the president of the Junta de Credito Publico and the representative of the Provincial Bank. The bonds correspond to two amortizations of the Provincial Bank on the excess of its ordinary issue.

The note of alarm about the port-works sounded by Engineer Stavelius in the Government House yesterday re-echoed in the Bolsa to-day, and was much commented on, as might be expected, coming from such a quarter. The Minister of the Interior received a report from Mr. Stavelius on the state of the works, and this report shews clearly that before the works are finished they will absorb no less than 33 millions of gold dollars, instead of the 20 millions originally stipulated; and this exclusive of the cost of the graving docks lately projected. Up to the present, or say to the end of January, the works have cost 15,981,200 dols, and it is apprehended that in the way matters are going the 20 millions will be exhausted before the channel, the North Darsena and the 3rd Dock are finished. The Board of Public Works, in view of this report, have advised the Government to destine the surplus still remaining preferently to finishing the North Darsena and channel, and any balance there may be to the railway lines on the port and the excavations in Dock No. 3, leaving the masonry work aside. The report is a trenchant criticism on the manner in which the works have been carried out and the complete indifference of the contractors to all the indications made by the technical superintendent.

The Houlder line steamer Hornby Grange is expected in port to-morrow.

The expected conference of Minister Rosas and Mr. Toso, president of the Provincial Mortgage Bank, with the Finance Committee of the Deputies, did not take place yesterday, as was expected, having been put off till to-day. It is said that the majority of the Committee are in favour of the Minister's proposal to make the bonds to be given for the coupons valid for payment of the properties put up at auction. It is expected that, thus gilded, the pill will be readily swallowed by the coupon holders.

The report and balance-sheet of the Banco Provincial de San Luis corresponding to last year have made their appearance, and shew that the gains amounted to 178,929 mpn, which, after deducting working expenses, wear and tear allowances, etc., left 148,105 mpn net profits. The bank was only working some six months, but the business shews a steady increase, and even during the period that no business was done the bank was collecting the interest on the National Bonds and the 630,000 dols. deposited in the National Bank, which of course helped to swell the profits. The Auditing Committee, certifying to the accuracy of the accounts, compliments the shareholders on the admirable management of the bank.

At the meeting of shareholders of the Banco Constructor de La Plata held yesterday three projects were presented and approved, one to normalize the affairs of the bank, another to pay off the mortgages on the properties, and the third to declare cancelled the coupon corresponding to second half of 1889. The report was read and also approved. Messrs. P. Risso, L. Urdaniz and R. Martinez were elected directors; Messrs. J. S. Roy Basadre, E. Esteven, L. Dimarino, M. Molina, Dr. Nicolas Videla and Dr. L. Ruiz substitutes; Mr. G. Rom syndic, Dr. M. Gonsalez del Solar substitute; and Francisco J. Zembrado and D. Iglesias Accounts' Committee.

Messrs. Luis Godoy and Co. sold yesterday the property Calle Tacuari Nos. 429 and 431 for $33,500. The buyer was Mr. Maximo Lusuriaga.

Messrs. Collet and Llambi sold yesterday a house situated in Calle Cangallo, between Rodriguez Peña and Callao, measuring 10x66 varas, for 46,000 mpn; there being a reserve price of 30,000 mpn. Mr. Santos Sicardi was the buyer.

The Montevideo Times says:

"The auction of land in Calles Agraciada, Gil and Avenida al Prado held last Sunday by J. Maeso was unusually well attended, and the prices obtained were decidedly good considering the times. The principal site, corner of Agraciada and Gil, was bought by Sr. M. L. Bossio at 5.20 the square vara. Adjacent sites fetched from 5 dols. to 60 cents the vara. The purchasers were Sres. J. Salas, B. Scheiner, A. Palacios, F. Sunico, A. Barredos and others.

"The property Municipio Nos. 42, 44 and 46 was sold on Sunday to Dn. Antonio Peluffo for 4102 dols.

"The Venus brought yesterday from Dolores 505 dols. to Diaz and Tarantello, from Salto 340 dols. to Carrica and 926 to E. Milano, from Buenos Aires 1000 dols. to B. Tejada and 2200 to L. Supervielle' Total 4966 dols.

"Seventeen hundred arrobes of wool were sold in the Feria yesterday at $3.10 to 3.30."

Estacion Pereira, 18th Sept. 1890.

Messrs. Agar Cross & Co.

Dear Sirs,

I have great pleasure in reporting favourably of your "Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine." Up to date we have shorn upwards of 300 Lincoln Rams and Borregas, and find it quite up to our expectations. It is simple and easily handled, and in no way complicated or difficult to understand or work, and so far it has never been out of order. It shears the sheep beautifully it does them quicker and considerably better than it is possible to get them done by hand, and saves the poor animal a great amount of abuse.

I have timed our Amateur Shearer here, and find he can shear upwards of eight in the hour. Consequently, I consider the Wolseley Machine one of the best patents I have yet seen, in proof of which I intend having some more put up at an early date.

Yours very truly,

WILLIAM RIDDICK.

Self-Registering Recording Clock.

This clock serves to test employees in warehouses, hospitals, parks, prisons, etc., and in general for watching over every kind of undertaking, such as railways, factories, workshops, etc., also for villages, towns and cities and for police and custom house service. Not only is it a exact timekeeper but at the same time shows clearly at a glance the special watching service on which it is used. It shows on a slip of paper the hour and minute at which it started, how much time has been employed from one point to another, and in what direction the rounds have been made. As this clock cannot get out of order, it is an infallible inspector which cannot be influenced by anybody or anything, and also contributes to avoid conflagrations and other losses, and to prevent robberies, frauds and crimes.
